

Emcee in the Spotlight

atex
the attendee experience co.

Introducing one of the team; sought-after international compere and moderator when it comes to Business Forums, Panel Discussions, Conferences and Workshops meet Katja Schleicher. Katja is especially skilled in international and multicultural business environments.

Where in the world are you based, Katja?

The Hague

Tell us about your journey to becoming a professional emcee. Why did the profession call to you?

I always found the right words to bridge topics, people, conflicts, and moods... I never could help it. And it makes people feel more intelligent and lighter after they work with me...

What motivates you to do what you do?

Simply, to find with my clients the right words for the right audience and the right situation. And together we always find them.

What are your most significant accomplishments as a professional emcee?

Getting highly specific ideas like Quantum Physics and Laser Fusion Power Plants going between government and industry.

What events and audiences do you enjoy working with?

I am really drawn to results-driven industries, and global players with a high technological appeal. Working with companies like (NASA, ESA, Airbus, Boeing, Shell, Intel, Infineon

Katja Schleicher

What are your top 3 event planning tips?

- 1 Understanding the person or people you are working with on the stage.
- 2 Asking the right questions.
- 3 Knowing the role a sense of humour can play in conversations and with the audience.

Contact us to find out more about booking Katja
for your next event atex.world